
LET'S MAKE SOMETHING

Arts & Crafts Are Not Just for Kids!

Learn how to make this origami pomegranate:

But They Can Be Fun for Kids, Too!

Have your kids make a card or two with some apple prints and some Shana Tova wishes. Drop them off in front of TSTI. We will send them out to some of our long time members! (Don't forget to make a few extras to send to your own family and friends.) Here's an easy way to make it a lot less messy for small hands.

Mizrach

Whether you are young or young at heart, celebrating the Holy Days at home can feel a little strange. Your home is not our sanctuary or chapel. But you can make your living room or kitchen or den or any other room feel a little more like a sacred place. You can make a mizrach! What's a mizrach? I'm so glad you asked!

Traditionally it's a piece of art hung on the wall to identify the eastern wall so it's simple to know which way to face when reciting certain prayers. This year it can help us make our homes feel more like our synagogue home. Here are a few examples of traditional ones.

What will yours look like? Will it look like TSTI? Will it look like your favorite spot at summer camp? You can put it up when you're ready to pray from home.
